

This Plan...

The ACPS Title I Office reaches out to all parents of students in Title I schools by inviting them to school-level meetings and by conducting surveys. This is how input is gathered to create a district parent and family engagement plan that includes meaningful activities and responsible use of Federal funds. In addition, the Title I Office supports the 7 Title I schools as they implement school-level plans and coordinate activities with other parental Federal, State, and local programs, such as with the Community Schools and Judy Centers. This plan is monitored, revised, and evaluated on the content and effectiveness with parental assistance to best meet the needs of the parents and families in the Title I schools.

Building Capacity

We provide information.

The Title I Office provides printed guides for parents that include grade level expectations, standards, and ways to help at home. We also provide fliers with important attendance information and assist schools in holding MCAP events.

We provide training & materials for parents.

A "New Year, New Skills" parent and family engagement activity will be held virtually on Thursday, January 15, 2025. Two sessions, one during the school day and one in the evening will be held. Invitations will be sent home for all parents.

We inform staff.

The Title I Office provides Title I school administrators and teachers with information on how to work with parents as equal partners in students' educational experiences.

We collaborate with other programs.

The Title I Office collaborates with Community School Coordinators, Judy Centers, and others to improve parent programs. We provide funding to schools to purchase informational brochures and cards for parent resource centers.
